The wholesale way in which as the crowd was in anything but good humor, and the club would retain its patronage it should use some means to secure better transportation. last race of the day was divided and run in two parts, the second section being decided while so dark that the crowd could not distinguish the colors. The sport began with an upset of expert calculations, the two-year-old Discount beating such sprinters as Correction, Prince George and Derfargilla easily. Correction made the running for five furlongs, and then died away in her usual fashion, while Griffin brought Discount up with a rush that George second, two lengths before Correction.

Armitage was made a 1 to 2 favorite for the second race, but he failed to run up to expectations. He was interfered with soon after the start, but not enough to beat him were he now the colt he was when in the stable of his former owner. The winner was Rama, an 8 to 1 chance. He came with a fine burst of speed in the last furlong, and at the end was a head in front of Micmac Queen, who beat Armifage by a scant length for the place. The third race went to Copyright, who was the only favorite to win. He got away well, after deonly favorite to win. He got away well, after delaying the start for afteen minutes, and was in the front rank throughout. Bergen had to ride him hard to capture the race by a head from Tom Skidmore, who was two lengths in front of Restraint.

The fourth race was the contest of the day. It was the Woodhawn Vase Handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth, and some well-known and high-class horses came to the post. Dr. Hasbrouck was the favorite in the early betting, but his price showed a steady decline, and Don Alonzo soon supplanted him as first choice. In an exciting race both were beaten. As they were rounding into the homestretch it looked as if Don Alonzo would gallop in, but that rorue Pickpocket, who had been last,

The downfall of "good things" was continued in the fifth race, the favorite failing before La Misere, a 10 to 1 chance, who in a hot drive won by a head: Golden Valley second, only a head before Charley T. With a competent rider Charley T.

Charley T. With a competent rider Charley I. would have won.
The sixth race proved the surprise of the day. The sixth race proved the surprise of the day. Marguerite, a three-year-old sister to Beansey, winning by a length from Captain Wagener, who beat Lorimer two lengths for the place. The winner was entered to be sold for $100, and was bid up to $1,005, at which she was bought in. Samuel Stedeker did the bidding ap.

Little Fred was considered a certainty for the last race, and was backed down to 2 to 5. Sims was engaged to ride him, to make it even more sure, but the finish found him second, Tartarlan leading all the way and winning by four lengths. Little Fred beat Balbriggan as far for the place.

NOTES ON TURF AFFAIRS.

The Elizabeth fall meeting began yesterday. There was a large crowd present, betting was brisk, and fifty bookmakers were in line to take in the money of the visitors. makers were in line to take in the money of the visitors. There was much dissatisfaction expressed by racecoers at the lack of proper facilities for reaching the track. The last train did not leave Jersey City until every car was packed with perspiring persons, who were anxious to see the first race. The train did not arrive at the track until after the first race was over. The return trip was far more trying to the nerves of the hundreds of losers who were on the first train out. The engine could not pull the train, which got stalled on the meadows. The second train, however, pushed it, and after a long delay a start was made. At the drawbridge over Newark Bay there were several canalboats that were on their way to Newark and another long delay ensued. When the train reached the yards the passengers were compelled to walk through loose cinders. It was dark and there was a lot of stumbiling. The complaints were long and loud, and many comparisons were made with the efficient management of the Pennsylvania road in handling large crowds safely eithout unnecessary delays. The masterly manner in which the Long Branch crowds were conveyed to and from the races furnished ample evidence that the menagers, if they make an effort, can give the patrons of the Elizabeth track as prompt and efficient service as any of its competitors. The fare for the round trip is 50 cents, while the round trip to Elizabeth is but 40 cents, or that firstells, appears to the round trip in the control of the round trip is 50. DEFEATED BY PICKPOCKET.

The New-Jersey Jockey Club opened its fall meeting yesterday with a programme that promised and formathed the racing furnished was more than offset by the tedious delays in travelling to and from the track. Those who went out on the late special trains arrived after the first race had been run, while on the way homeward the trip was even the delay in getting to the tiuck, minuted with the losers.

The surprise of the day was Maiguerite's victory over Captain Wagner. The filly's pedigree as printed on the programme was wrong and misled many of the "depe" book believers. There are two Marguerites, one by Algerine, dam Money Box, owned by J. H. McCormiok, who is racing at Gioucester. It was this pedigree which was printed on the programme. The filly that won yesterday is also a Marguerite, but is by Iroquots, dam Wiregrass, and is owned by a Mr. Payne, of St. Louis. The filly's owner did not have a dollar on her, as he was told that she could not win in such fast company. Some persons bet heavily on the filly just as the horses were going to the post, driving the odds against her chances from 40 to 1 down to 8 to 1. When she won her owner was greatly excited, and to add to his trouble somebody bid the filly, who was entered to be sold for $100, up to $1.005, when she was knocked down to her owner. To use the expression of the paddock frequenters, "somebody was trowed down." In the future it is likely that mistakes in the weights and pedigrees will be extremely rare.

The Grand Jury of Union County, N. J., was discharged yesterday. Despite the lecture it received from Judge Van Syckel regarding the Linden Township Committee, the jury falled to report an indictment against the committeemen. The jurors met yesterday morning for the purpose of further considering the case of the Linden Township Committee, in granting a license to the Linden Racetrack Association. The jurors could not come to any decision, and filed into the court room and informed Judge Van Syckel that they Should you desire to examine those witnesses again, the prosecutor will bring them before you. This, gentlemen, is all I will say to you on this subject, as I consider I have done my duty."

The jurors arose and went back to the jury-room, and after considering the matter for twenty minutes, sent word to Judge Van Syckel that they were through with their work and desired to be discharged. The Judge sent for them and dismissed them without another word on the subject.

---CZAREWITCH'S KINDLY FEELING FOR FRANCE.

Paris, Oct. 27.-M. Judet, Director of the "Petit Journal," who went to Copenhagen to present to the children of the Czar, who was then visiting there, gifts as souvenirs of the visit of the Russian fleet to Toulon, writes to his paper that he was twice received at Frederibork by the Czarcwitch. The onversation was in part on the internal affairs of France, with which the Czarewitch was intimately France, with which the Czarewitch was intimately acquainted. The Czarewitch said, in speaking of the reception accorded the Russian officers that he rejeiced at the self-constraint of the crowds. He added that he profoundly admired the French Arms. M. Judet, in his letter, says that for reasons of prudence he withholds important utterances by the Czarewitch, which however, if they were known, would be more than agreeable to Frenchmen.

GIOLITTI DENUES DI RUDINES CHARGES. Turin, Oct. 27.—At a banquet in this city last night se Minister Giolitti made a speech, which was in large part a reply to the recent letter of ex-prime Minister di Radini attacking the Govern-ment for its financial policy. The Prime Minister declared that he had expected an attack from the Marquis di Rudini, but he had not looked for such exaggeration as was contained in the Marquis's let-ter. He pointed to the budget of 1892-93, with an excess of 7,00,000 lire over the estimates, as more excess of 7,00,000 lire over the estimates, as more favorable than any previous budget presented in ten years. What object, he asked, can there be in magnifying budget shortcomings, thereby assisting the country's domestic and foreign enemies, who are waging an unjust war on italy's credit.

Signor Globiti embalically denied the truth of the Marquis di Rudini's statement about the bank scandals. The violence of the attack of the exprime Minister was explained, he declared, by the responsibility of the Di Rudini Ministry for the scandals.

THE KAISER AND ITALIAN ARMY REDUCTION.

Berlin, Oct. 27.-It is reported here that Empe William has summoned the King of Saxony to Berlin to consult with him as to the safety of Blowing Italy to reduce her standing army. Repreentations have been made to the Emperor from Rome that the present expenditure for the Italian Rome that the present expensiture for the Italian Army and Navy is too heavy for the budget, and that a reduction of the items for defence must be made to help the country out of its financial straits. The Emperor is caid to be opposed to such a reduction, as it would mean the loss of a corresponding two corps, to the Italian Army. He is likely, however, to defer to the opinion of the King of Saxony.

ALLEGED FRENCH AGGRESSION IN AFRICA. Berlin, Oct. 27.-The colonial enthusiasts in Germany are worrying Chancellor von Caprivi with reuests that he call upon France to explain by what quests that he call upon France to explain by what right she has erected armed stations in the him-terland of the Cameroons, north of the line of de-marcation established in 1885. They say that France has defied openly her treaty obligations and most be checked. Unless they receive satisfactory as-surances from the Chancellor, they will raise in the Reichstag the question of French aggression in West Africa.

GOUNOD'S STATE FUNERAL. MANY DISTINGUISHED MEN ATTEND THE RE-LIGIOUS SERVICES -EULOGIES ON THE

DEAD COMPOSER. Paris, Oct. 27.-The state funeral of Charles Francois Gounod was held to-day. The body was removed this morning from the composer's home in the Place Malesherbes, where it had been lying n state, to the Church of the Madeleine. A detachment of troops, with several bands, acted as escort. An immense crowd filled the Place de la Madeleine, and the streets and boulevards in the neighborhood. The interior of the church was nd trimmed with a heavy fringe. The exterior was also covered with mourning drapery. The uneral procession arrived at the Church of the Madeleine at 12:15 o'clock. The floral offerings filled two carriages and six stretchers. The finest of the offerings was a lyre of blush roses, Parma iolets and heather, sent by Mme. Patti.

The grandchildren of Gounod sent a wreath of white lilac and white roses. The theatres of every European city sent crosses and wreaths. Six horses drew the hearse. The pace-cords were borne by M. Poincare, Minister of Public Instruction; Victorien Sardou, the dramatist; Charles Ambroise Thomas and Louis Ernest Reyer, the composers; Gerome, the painter; Paul Jules Barbier, the dramatic author; Leon Carvalho, and Gounod's old friend M. Bertrand, director of the bier, the dramatic author; Leon Carvalho, and Gounou's old friend M. Bertrand, director of the Opera. Among the great crowd of distinguished men who attended the services were Monsignor Ferrati, the Papal Nuncip; M. Dumas, M. Charetie, M. Munkacsy and M. Van Beers, Many Americans were present in the nave of the church. When the coffin was placed upon the catafalque twelve priests descended the altar steps, carrying lighted tapers, and took positions around the catafalque. Abbe Leris, curate of the parish church at St. Cloud, recited low mass. The choir sang the "De Profundis" and the "Dies Irae," the lines being sung alternately by the trebles and the basses. M. Saint-Saens acted as organist. The religious ceremony ended, the mourners came out on the steps, where several short speeches were made. Raymond Poincare, Minister of Public Instruction, said: "When such a master as Gounod disappears it would be ingratitude, almost implety, for the nation to give no signs of mourning. He was one of the noblest and purest of a long line of French artists. He had all the good qualities of his people—taste, affability and simplicity. The man was the equal of the artist. He was a man of sovereign intelligence. He was generous and good, and he bore with touching resignation the afflictions of old age. Not only as an artist, but also as a patriot. M. Gerome said: "He was an artist as the word." M. Gerome said: "He was an artist as the word mation.

M. Gerome said: "He was an artist as the word is understood in its highest sense—a French musician par excellence." Turning to the coffin M. Gerome continued: "Thy works will endure. Thy memory will leave in the hearts of those who have known and loved thee an eternal regret."

Saint-Saens spoke thus: "Gounod's operas won for him his present popularity. His purely dramatic works will prove to be more or less ephemeral. His best genius was shown in his religious compositions, which assure to him the admiration of future ages. His fame will increase with time. He loved art above everything; and art, in return will give him immortality."

The march to Anteuil began as soon as the speeches were ended. The procession was ied by the jamid of the 2th Infantry Regiment, playing Chopin's "Dead March." Anteuil was reached at 330 s'elsek. Few persons except the mounters trudged the six miles from the Church of the Madeicine to the cemetery. After the body had been lowered into the vault the rector of the parish church offered prayers for the repose of Gounod's soul. A committee has been formed of which Charles Ambroise Thomas is the head, for the purpose of erecting a monument to Gounod.

FEARS FOR DR. NANSEN'S VESSEL. ISQUILTING NEWS EROUGHT FROM THE ARCTIC BY A NORWEGIAN TRAVELLER.

London, Oct. 27 .- "The Pall Mall Gazette" pubishes to-day, under the caption "Has the Fram lone Down?" a story regarding Dr. Nansen's Arcexploration vessel. The story is given on the ty of a Norwegian traveller, who was in ormed by a number of Samolels, a nomadic people habiting the shores of the Arctic Ocean from e mouth of the Petchora River to the Gulf of Chatangskee, that they had sighted the Fram fre mently in the Kara Sca. She worked heavily and ily in the ice for three days and made no progress. The traveller aids that it was the general opinion when the Fram was lying in Pet Jington Strait, between the west-northwest expemity of Siberia and the Island of Vaigats, that he was too deeply loaded and too cumbersome to orce a passage through the fee. The traveller arther says that he frequently visited Dr. Mansen thile the Fram was in Pet Strait, and found him reatly changed. He was vacillating and sometimes melancholy, restless and mentally feverish, he relations between the two men, however, were the most cordial nature. The Russians believed that if the Fram was, at the time referred to, rifting in the Kara Sea, she must have been comelled to return to avoid being crushed in the ice, eThe Pail Mail Gazette' remarks that if this ourse had been decided upon news of the vessel mat have been heard ere this. SCOPE OF PRINCE BISMARCK'S MEMOIRS. ANNIVERSARY OF THE FALL OF METZ. ELEBRATED BY A DINNER IN BERLIN-EM-PEROR WILLIAM'S TRIBUTE TO THE " RED PRINCE'S" MEMORY.

Berlin, Oct. 27.-A banquet was given at the Kaiserhof Hotel to-night to celebrate the twentychal Bazaine, when, without a shell being thrown artillery and 100 mitrailleuses fell into the ds of the Prussians. The day was also the anniversary of the birth of Prince Friedrich Leo-sold, son of the late "Red Prince," and Prince Friedrich occupied the seat of honor at the right and of Emperor William. After the third course of the banquet had been served Emperor William arose and said?

"This is a ditting day to remember the great bero, Pruscha's Field Marshal, to whose leadership victory faithfully clung. We who were intimately associated with the Prince in his lifetime will not now remember the solder only, but the lonely man who lived silently in his woods, planting trees and enjoying their biossoming exactly as he had formerly planted the kerm of Prussias future greatness in the Prussian Army. He now rests silently after his mortal pilgrimage. To the memory of this lonely man, who sleeps the electral sleep under his favorite lime trees, I empty this silent glass."

The Emperor spoke with deep and visible emotion, and after he had finished he turned to Prince Priedrich Leopold and warmly pressed his hands.

The Prince referred to by the Emperor was Frince Frederick Charles, "The Red Prince," who was a nephew of Emperor William I. He had a was a nephew of Emperor William I. He had a wide military reputation before the Franco-Prus-sian war, and was the author of several military works. He commanded the second German Army in the war with France, and he it was who drove Marshal Eazaine into Metz and subsequently com-pelled the capitulation of the city. He died on June 15, 1885.

LOVECRAFT'S BODY TAKEN TO ROCHESTER.

The body of Frederick A. Lovecraft, business manage committed solvide on Thursday morning, was taken to Rochester yesterday. It was accompanied by his brother-in-law, R. H. HARD AND FAST ON THE ROCKS. TWENTY-SIX FEET OF WATER IN THE HOLD OF THE STRANDED STEAMER CITY

OF NEW-YORK. San Francisco, Oct. 27.-At a late hour this afternoon the steamer City of New-York was leaning a little to the southwest, slightly drawn by the stern and a small list to port; also hold full of water and main deck just washed. She is hard and fast on the rocks, with about twenty-six feet of water on the port side amidships. Wreckers are at work stripping her, with the object of floating her, which may be done if the weather continues favorable. Her cargo is being discharged into lighters in a damaged condition. Should the bulkheads of the vessel fore and aft break, the water will then have no resistance, and it will be only a question of time when she will go to pieces.

Inquiry at the office of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company elicited the information that no arrangement had been made for putting on a boat in the place of the wrecked New-York. The next regular steamer for China and Japan will be the Gaelle, which sails November 2. The Gaelle will be followed one week later by the City of Peking. This point where the New-York struck is most dangerous, and half a dozen vessels have come to grief on it during the last twelve months. The Lurline went ashore there and the John D. Spreckels was only saved by a fishing schooner. It was from there that the Spinney broke away from the tugs and started up the coast to her doom.
